

Melanie P. Fritzsche (Laguna Pueblo) is a staff attorney with the American Indian Law Center, Inc. She has assisted tribes with the development and implementation of their court systems and code development. Ms. Fritzsche also has practiced in the areas of water law and family law. She is an appellate judge for the Southwest Intertribal Court of Appeals. Ms. Fritzsche's community service includes serving on the board of the American Indian Graduate Center, the New Mexico Women's Bar Association, and the New Mexico Women's Foundation. She graduated from the University of New Mexico School of Law with a J.D. and a Certificate in Indian Law and a Certificate in Natural Resources. She was a member of the Natural Resources Journal. Ms. Fritzsche received her B.A. from Adams State College. She is a member of the New Mexico State Bar.