

LEGAL SERVICES REFERRALS

The AILC does not provide legal aid or representation. There are a number of organizations that practice in the field of Indian Law such as those listed below. However, the AILC does not endorse or guarantee the services from these organizations nor do we claim that this list is in any way comprehensive. This information is provided as a starting point for people who are seeking legal assistance. If you are seeking an individual attorney for representation, we suggest that you contact your state's bar association.

DNA People's Legal Services, Inc.

Central Office
P.O. Box 306
Window Rock, AZ 86515
Phone: (520) 871-4151
Fax: (520)871-5036
Website: <http://www.dnalegalservices.org/>

Indian Pueblo Legal Services

P.O. Box 817
Bernalillo, NM 87004
Phone: (505) 867-3391
Fax: (505) 867-3644

Native American Rights Fund

1506 Broadway
Boulder, CO 80302
Phone: (303) 447-8760
Fax: (303) 443-7776
Website: <http://www.narf.org/>

Southwest Indian Law Clinic (SILC), University of New Mexico School of Law

UNM School of Law
1117 Stanford, N.E.
Albuquerque, NM 87131
Phone: (505) 277-5265
Website: <http://lawschool.unm.edu/indian/indian-clinic.php>

The SILC is part of the UNM School of Law Clinical Law Programs. Under the supervision of clinical professors, law students actively represent clients in state, federal and tribal courts and in various administrative agencies. Contact SILC to determine whether your case may be eligible for representation by a SILC student. There are specific guidelines as to who is eligible for Clinical Program representation, and SILC professors must determine whether or not each case is appropriate to the skill level of law students. Therefore, not all cases are accepted.