

Effective Governance Through Strategic Communications

- Milton Bluehouse, Jr., Owner, Tribal Consultation Resources, LLC

Tribal government communications has far reaching implications for congressional advocacy, federal funding, tribal community support, and non-tribal community relations. How well you communicate may mean increased funding, effective community support, and responsive government services. Poor or inarticulate communications can spell disaster. Learn how to communicate strategically and effectively with multiple audiences.